

THE MCQUAIG SYSTEM™ INTERPRETER COURSE

Brisbane	(Australian Institute of Management)	— 23rd & 24th February 2016
Melbourne	(Saxons Training Centre)	— 17th & 18th May 2016
Sydney	(Coogee Bay Hotel)	— 7th & 8th June 2016

The McQuaig System™ Interpreter Course is recommended for all people intending to use or already using The McQuaig System™ suite of instruments. Whether using The McQuaig System™ on an ad hoc or licensed arrangement, accreditation as a McQuaig System Interpreter will greatly benefit you and your organisation. Licensed clients are required to complete training within 12 months from their licence start date. A certificate of accreditation, valid globally, will be issued to delegates upon completion.

Who should attend this course?

- Human Resource practitioners
- Line and Senior Managers and Supervisors who are already skilled in structured behavioural interviewing techniques.
- New users of The McQuaig System™

The aim of this course

To equip delegates with a high level understanding of the use and application of The McQuaig System™ as part of the TRG suite of assessment tools in the selection process.

The program teaches participants to use The McQuaig System™ reports to more effectively manage, coach, develop and retain existing staff. This will result in a higher retention of staff and related improvement in productivity for your organisation.

Learning outcomes

On completion of the interpreter course, delegates will be able to:

- construct job designs based on the critical behavioural requirements of the position
- create valid benchmarks for positions within their organisation directly traceable to current success or failure profiles
- demonstrate high level skills in interpreting the results of the assessment tools and apply them to the selection process
- link behavioural interview and reference checking questions directly to job-critical behaviours
- use the suite of The McQuaig System™ reports to manage, motivate and develop employees according to their individual behavioural characteristics
- understand the more difficult graphs relating to the complex relationship of 'current to core behaviours' resulting from transitional and motivational changes.

Content

- job analysis and design
- temperament, personality and behaviour
- behavioural factors and their relationship to workplace efficiencies
- administering the instruments, scoring, analysing and interpreting
- understanding the factor influence and blending from the graphs
- assessing job applicants and matching to other evidence
- linking motivational, developmental and career-pathing issues to behaviours
- managing retention
- feeding back results to candidates and managers
- validity, reliability, ethics and legal issues.
